I am writing to ask for permission for the dissertation of the above named student to use previously published material, as follows:

Land lotteries, long-term wealth, and political selection, Public Choice, 2019

The student named was involved in the published research in a role that makes it appropriate to claim a role as author of the work as an original contribution to research. The previously published work forms part of a larger coherent argument appropriate for the graduate degree for which the student is a candidate.
